

SLOWER THAN DIRT TUNEBOOK

This tunebook contains tunes commonly played at the Slower Than Dirt old-time jam in Seattle, where “commonly” means “played more than twice since I’ve been keeping records”. It is almost certainly missing a few commonly-played tunes which haven’t been transcribed yet. For the full logs of what’s been played, see <http://slowerthandirt.org/tune-list/>

I am trying to make fresh transcriptions of all these tunes, but in some cases I have cribbed from a previously-published book. Usually I will have made some minor changes to those tunes to reflect more closely how they’re played at the jam, and I have included attribution notes for tunes I didn’t transcribe by ear. My intent is to eventually replace any transcriptions borrowed from books with transcriptions entirely my own. This is a work in progress.

These transcriptions are mostly stripped-down versions suitable for learning the basic tune, not exact transcriptions of any particular performance. As such, they should definitely not be used as a canonical source of how any tune “should” sound. Add your own variations, search out YouTube videos and recordings, and learn from other players in your area how they play it. The goal of this tunebook is to be descriptive, not prescriptive.

Tools used in the preparation of this tunebook include `abcm2ps`, `EasyABC` and `LATEX`. The idea came from Paul Hardy’s tunebooks at <http://www.pghardy.net/concertina/tunebooks/>. There is a GitHub repository of files which should (with some modification) be sufficient for you to create your own set of tunebooks at <https://github.com/rjl20/abc-tunebook>

The current version of this tunebook as well as other collections I’ve prepared, in both ABC and PDF formats, is available at <http://slowerthandirt.org/tunebooks/> – check the version in the page footers against the version listed on the site before downloading a new copy.

More than half the people I encounter play this tune in the reverse order of the two parts shown. The tune derives from Steven Foster's "Angelina Baker." My reading of the original is that this order is closest to the original, for what that's worth. Also, I like the V chord at the end of each part as shown, but this is for you to decide yourself. -- G.S.

I'll sing and I'll dance, my laugh shall be gay
 I'll cease this wild weeping, drive sorrow away.
 Tho' my heart is now breaking, he never shall know
 That his name made me tremble and my pale cheeks to glow.

I'll think of him never, I'll be wildly gay
 I'll charm ev'ry heart, and the crowd I will sway.
 I'll live yet to see him regret the dark hour
 When he won, then neglected, the frail wildwood flower.

He told me he loved me, and promised to love
 Through ill and misfortune, all others above
 Another has won him, ah! mis'ry to tell
 He left me in silence, no word of farewell.

He taught me to love him, he call'd me his flower
 That blossom'd for him all the brighter each hour
 But I woke from my dreaming, my idol was clay
 My visions of love have all faded away.

I'm including this version because it's demonstrably in the public domain, unlike the Carter Family's "Wildwood Flower".

John Lover's Gone

D

Musical score for 'John Lover's Gone' in D major, 4/4 time. The score consists of three staves. The first staff begins with a treble clef, a key signature of two sharps (F# and C#), and a 4/4 time signature. It features a melody with a repeat sign and two endings. Chords D, A, and D are indicated above the staff. The second staff continues the melody with chords A and D. The third staff concludes the piece with chords A and D.
